DON'T YOU BELIEVE that the only arithmetic taught in elementary schools should be that which is useful in everyday life? And that the pupil's training should be confined to developing skill in applying and using those principles?

This is the position taken by the HAMILTON STANDARD ARITHMETICS. These new books are in harmony with the best methods of present-day teaching. They omit some of the traditional topics because they are not used in ordinary business. Their abundant and varied problems are closely related to real conditions. These problems have been drawn from the pupil's life at home, at school, and at play, and from community life and the most important national industries.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING for the newest all-round Geographies, any one who knows would refer you to the ESSENTIALS OF GEOGRAPHY, by BRIGHAM & McFARLANE. If you wish to make sure of their superiority, we ask you to compare them with any other geographies now published.

They are the only geographies offered today which are new throughout—new maps, new texts, new illustrations. They also have many other new and advantageous features which they alone possess. Commerce and industry are brought out as never before. There is a wealth of pertinent facts in the books which will be of far-reaching benefit to the pupil in his later daily business life.

HERETOFORE, the handicap in teaching the average pupil to speak and write good English in his everyday life, has been the lack of a textbook definitely planned to carry out this aim. This handicap has now been removed by the publication of LEWIS & HOSIC'S PRACTICAL ENGLISH FOR HIGH SCHOOLS.

This book emphasizes English for work instead of English for leisure. By constantly providing material which makes English a live part of the student's life, it succeeds in doing away with self-consciousness and artificiality. In its thorough teaching of construction it leads the pupil to organize his ideas. It makes only such demands as can be fulfilled by the average pupil.

"BUSINESS TO THE CORE" expresses in a nutshell the aim and the material in HOTCHKISS & DREW'S BUSINESS ENGLISH. It teaches the kind of English that the most progressive houses now demand of their employees. It leads the pupil to see that the better the correspondence the better the business results.

Every page breathes the atmosphere of business. The pupil is made to feel even in his period of training that he is really in a business office doing a business man's work. Such realism prevents any listlessness or indifference on the part of the pupil. Letters, reports, advertisements, etc., from actual business houses illustrate each important point. Throughout, the value of business courtesy is constantly impressed on the pupil.

THE DILEMMA OF THE SCHOOLBOOK PUBLISHERS

THE endless difficulties and uncertainties coincident with securing state or local adoptions of text-books. not to speak of various moves by state legislatures into the field of state schoolbook publication, fill the life of the educational publisher unusually full of problems—even for a publisher. His is a profitable calling, always provided any given firm can secure enough of the business, but this possible profit has only served to increase on the one hand the competition among the publishers themselves and on the other the exactions of the local authorities naturally eager to drive the sharpest bargain possible for their constituencies. To all these usual problems has been added in the last twelve months an important new one, a thirty-three and one-third per cent rise in manufacturing costs. Paper that formerly sold at from three and seven-eighths to five cents has risen to eight and ten cents; binding cloth has increased several cents per yard—the long list of increases in glue, type metal and other materials is too familiar to need repeating; suffice it to say that the educational publishers place their total manufacturing increase at anywhere from twenty-five (very conservative) to forty per cent.

The publishers had seen these conditions coming for more than a year, but they had maintained their old list prices, unwilling to believe that the increases could be anything but temporary. As the war dragged on thru 1916, however, their attitude became less optimistic, paper contracts were expiring in many cases, and the result was that January 1 of this year saw an unprecedented number of price increases. To date, from seventy-five to ninety per cent of the publishers of schoolbooks have marked up at least some of their titles, usually about ten per cent, and it is believed others will follow. Heath, Silver, Burdett, the World Book Co., Houghton Mifflin and Merrill are some of the houses that have raised certain list prices, while the American Book Co., with its monster list of some 4000 titles, and Ginn & Co. are conspicuous among those who have so far made no increases. Naturally these extensive changes render the current Educational List printed with this issue of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY unusually valuable to the trade and to teachers.

Increasing a text-book price is not the simple matter that an increase on a novel is. It is becoming more and more the custom to-day for states and local school authorities to require the publishers to comply with a more or less standardized form of contract binding them, among other things, to supply books, identical with samples submitted, for three or five years at a price to be always as low as that at which they are supplied anywhere else. About fifty per cent of a big educational publisher's business is tied up in such contracts. Since the contracts overlap in time the publisher never gets to the place where he can raise prices all around and start afresh. The result has been that some publishers have actually lost money on certain books, especially elementary books, during the past year, and others have squeezed thru with a paltry one or two per cent on their investment. Just as an instance of how hard hit the publishers have been, one house alone had to meet an increase of $400,000 in its manufacturing bills during the past year.

The other factor operating with these contracts to restrict price increases has been the abnormal importance of the price factor in the text-book field. If two books "look" about the same, the cheaper one is apt, other things being equal, to secure adoption.

Different expedients are being tried by the publishers either to avoid price increases or to make up the deficit in profits that still remains in most cases after prices have been raised. One house laid off its traveling representatives for two months last fall, thereby saving $30,000. Other houses report that while they are not making actual reductions in their staffs of representatives they are not adding their normal increase. There is a general tendency to cut down a bit on free desk copies, which alone cost each house thousands of dollars annually, and at least one publisher, as mentioned elsewhere, has been endeavoring since February of this year to do away with this "necessary evil" entirely. Advertising is being curtailed. In some places cloth has been substituted for leather. A saving of about a cent and a half a copy is being effected thru substituting ink for gold on the backs and sides of numerous books (tho not even such a minor economy can be employed in the case of books supplied under contract). New manuscripts are being scrutinized more carefully than ever and most houses are turning out only about two-thirds the customary number of new books. By such small economies the firm cited above made up half the $400,000 increase in its manufacturing bills during the past year.

New books, of course, are priced to bear their real cost in most cases, and publishers have not been slow to focus their selling efforts on such new titles. Another way in which certain of them at least are trying to get even is by speeding up new editions; a substantially revised new edition naturally does not have to carry the old price—tho the publisher must continue to supply the old edition under a state contract if a state prefers it—and in some cases publishers are anticipating revisions that would not normally have come until next year or the year after. As to what will happen from now on, one man's guess is about as good as another's. The new element of labor shortage is being added to the publisher's burdens, tho the drop of half a cent or more in paper prices is at least one evidence of a slight movement in the other direction.

Another new problem for the educational publisher has been raised by the fact that many college students are abandoning their studies to enter military service. This change of activity will inevitably make itself felt in a diminution of sales of text-books, tho just how serious this will be it is impossible to gauge at the present time. It is fairly certain that there will be little decrease in freshman books due to this cause and but a slight falling off in sophomore texts, as practically all freshmen are still in their teens and not over half of the sophomores are twenty-one. If we recall aright, however, practically half last year's senior class at Princeton dropped their academic work in whole or in large part to enlist or go into training, as well as a sizable number of juniors—this year's seniors. It seems highly probable that, owing to the direct openings in the engineering and other similar specialized arms of the service, the "academic mortality" in technical schools and courses will be unusually great. The head of the text-book department of one of the most prominent publishers of high school and college texts predicts a falling off of as much as a third on the books normally sold to such students. A somewhat brighter prospect is furnished by the University of Wisconsin, where the appropriation for teachers is only being cut down eight per cent. for the coming year on account of withdrawals of students for military service—and it is stated that the president of the University considers even this small deduction more than the withdrawals warrant. It should be remembered, however, that Wisconsin, like most Western and Middle Western institutions, is coeducational and that the eight per cent. would represent sixteen per cent. in the case of a men's college with the enrollment of the University of Wisconsin.

It is at once a gratifying vindication of the stand of the private text-book publishers and an endorsement of the excellence of their output that two special state commissions have since the first of this year submitted reports unfavorable to the state printing of school texts in their respective states. In the one case, that of California, which already has state printing of elementary texts, the question of extending state printing to high school books was voted down, and in the other, in the State of Tennessee, a majority report favored neither the printing of elementary nor secondary texts. Both reports are cited in some detail elsewhere in this issue. It is of interest that in both states the educators, those best versed in the educational needs of their communities, protested vigorously against the introduction of state printing. In Tennessee the Tennessee Public School Officers' Association voted unanimously against state printing, while in California, the home of state printing, we are told that a special committee of the California Council of Education reported some one hundred and fifty letters written by high school principals of the state to legislators, unanimously opposing the recently defeated bill, and that in September, 1916, the California Teachers' Association published a special bulletin in which were set forth the united opposition of the California High School Teachers' Association, the California High School Principals' Convention, the California Council of Education, and the California Teachers' Association.

ONE man's loss is another man's gain in schoolbook publishing more surely than in any other department of publishing. Competition is so keen that it takes unusual courage deliberately to allow a rival even the slightest advantage. The question of free desk copies is a case in point: Everybody admits they are a substantial expense, yet they are a sort of publicity which each publisher is loath to abandon—so long as the other publishers continue it. In a few cases local school boards are beginning to purchase sample desk copies, tho these are as yet in the extreme minority. Why should they spend the people's money when teachers can get the books free? Meanwhile the Charles E. Merrill Co. have met the issue squarely this spring and sent out the notice of their stoppage of the free copy practice reprinted elsewhere in this number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Present manufacturing costs offer every warrant for such action, yet it will require concerted action if such a reform is ever to become really effective.

THE Educational Catalog for 1917 includes an important change which it is hoped will commend itself to the trade and to educators. In the early days of this list, more than forty years ago, text-books for graded schools, then sold extensively by the retail trade, constituted the bulk of educational publishing. Since then there has been great change and wide development in several directions, notably in supplementary reading and vocational guidance. Such books in these fields as were included in the Educational List were covered in the main alphabet. It has now been thought best to confine this main alphabet to class text-books for graded schools, arranged alphabetically by author as heretofore, and to make a separate list, classified, of books for supplementary reading, for technical and higher education beyond graded schools, for vocational guidance, on pedagogics, and for teachers' aids. This list does not claim to be as comprehensive as the main alphabetical list, and is in fact selective, depending to some extent on publishers' support. For instance, individual titles in long series are entered specifically only under arrangement with the publisher to cover cost, but it is intended to include the general series title in any event. The new scheme is in tentative and experimental shape this year, and probably some errors in the assorting of the titles in two lists will be found, for which we present apologies in advance. It is to be hoped that the new list, which is capable of large extention, may commend itself to the retail trade as well as to educators, and receive the support of publishers, so that it may, another year, even more fully represent the output of books in these important fields. If this classified arrangement proves preferable to the alphabetical for the main list, we shall be glad to have suggestions to that effect, so that such change may be considered for the 1918 issue.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OPPOSES STATE PUBLISHED TEXT-BOOKS FOR HIGH SCHOOLS

THE California schoolbook situation has been watched by text-book publishers with unusual interest—and some little uneasiness! —ever since that state bolted from the rest of the educational world in 1883 and inaugurated its policy that state written and state published text-books were good enough for its school children. Since then California has seen fit to recede somewhat on this point, but she has gone far in other directions toward the socialization of her school and schoolbook system. Her schools rank high among those of the country and consequently anything in the text-book line "made in California" is of more than ordinary interest.

The latest essay of the state legislature into the schoolbook field is in the direction of providing free texts for high school students. California already furnishes books to children in her elementary system, and in the move to extend the free book plan to high schools she is only following in the steps of several sister states. That the state should reject the free high school book idea is not surprising, tho the tone of the report submitted by the special legislative committee appointed to investigate the question leads one to infer that the plan is not permanently pigeon-holed but may be revived later when certain preliminary reforms may have been put thru. The question of the state printing of high school text-books naturally comes in for consideration in the committee's report, as well as the further restriction of the number of texts recommended for use in the state, and the findings on both these questions are of direct interest to educational publishers generally.

The California legislature of 1915 adopted a resolution that:

Whereas, The purchase of text-book plates and the annual payment of royalties amounts to a sum greater than would necessarily be expended if this work were compiled by California authors; and

Whereas, There is a sentiment among the school faculties and parents of school children that the books should be issued in sections to cover a term instead of several years, and used by but one pupil; and

Whereas, The issuance of free text-books to the students of the elementary schools has proved a success, both in educational advantages and economy; therefore be it

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the speaker of the assembly shall appoint three members, and the president of the senate shall appoint three members, who shall act as a committee of the legislature to investigate the matters contained in this resolution and the advisability and means of furnishing text-books free to the students of the secondary schools of the state, and all matters relating thereto, and to report their findings in full to the forty-second session of the legislature.

The committee appointed in compliance with this resolution sent a lengthy questionnaire to the educational authorities of every state and territory and held public hearings at which the Commissioner of Secondary Schools, Superintendent of State Printing, representatives of the California Typographical Conference and many educators spoke. The results of the committee's deliberations, as well as the text of certain of the hearings were made public recently in a 128-page pamphlet.

I—STATE AUTHORSHIP REPUDIATED

Before taking up the main question of free books for high school pupils, the committee answers in its report the first two sections of the legislative resolution quoted above. The committee takes issue flatly with the resolution on the point, "Whereas, The purchase of text-book plates and the annual payment of royalties amounts to a sum greater than would necessarily be expended if this work were compiled by California authors." In this connection the committee cites "as peculiarly applicable to our situation the report of the Text-book Commission of the Province of Ontario," made after thoro research:

"The department may select an author to prepare a text-book, then engage a publisher and fix the price at which the text shall be sold to the public. This is the method which, speaking generally, was adopted under the two previous Ministers of Education. The author selected was not necessarily the one who could produce the best text; the publisher had the price fixed for him and he immediately set to work to make the most money he could out of his contract. Consequently the present text-books are unsatisfactory.

"A second method may be considered. The department might have all its texts prepared under its authority, make its own plates, own all the rights in the texts and then have them printed by tender. If the department represented the whole of Canada instead of one province this system might be expedient. For a single province to adopt such a plan would be expensive and cumbersome."

"Your committee," the California report concludes on this point, "is therefore of the opinion that the present policy of the state in this regard should be pursued. It is too late to nurse California authors at the expense of the educational system. While, other things being equal, California authors should have the preference, yet your committee believes it is the part of wisdom and in accord with the almost universal sentiment of the people that the best available book for our high school pupils should be procured without regard to its source."

II—PRINTING IN SECTIONS NOT ESSENTIAL

Regarding the second section of the legislative resolution, the report says:

"The members of the committee are agreed that there is very little evidence in conformity with the second recital of the above-named resolution, to the effect that 'there is a sentiment among the school faculties and parents of school children that the books should be issued in sections to cover a term instead of several years, and used by but one pupil.'

"There have been some such statements made to the committee in a more or less cursory manner, and it is reported that in one or two districts a movement of the sort is on foot. The principal argument in favor of furnishing texts to pupils in sections is that such a plan lessens the chance of transmitting disease. It may be observed, however, that all the danger of this kind that exists in connection with the use of school books is attendant in a much greater degree upon the use of library books. No positive evidence has been presented on the subject and certainly it does not appear that there is any general public demand for the issuance of books in sections."

III—OPPOSED TO FREE STATE DISTRIBUTION AT PRESENT

The gist of the report on the question of free high school books is set forth in the first sentence of the printed recommendations: "After an investigation of all the evidence before it, including the facts herein set out, and especially in view of the lack of any prescribed uniformity of text-books, your committee feels that it is not expedient at this time that the state should furnish text-books free to pupils of high schools." This follows immediately after the statement that "the members of the committee agree that undoubtedly the issuance of free text-books to the pupils of the elementary schools of California has proven a very marked success," and that this is not necessarily a final dictum in the case of high school books is shown by the following paragraph in which the committee goes on to say: "It is the opinion of your committee that, after the substantial uniformity recommended herein shall have been accomplished, it may be feasible for the state to furnish text-books free to the pupils of secondary schools. It is possible also that, when the time necessary for the preliminary steps has elapsed, the

We have found it necessary to discontinue the practice under which, in certain circumstances, desk copies have been presented to schools using our publications. The expense involved is one which present conditions in the school book business do not justify. prices of ink, paper, etc., will have sunk once more to a normal plane. In the meantime the system now in vogue in some school districts, under permission of law, of furnishing text-books by the district, should be encouraged."

To protect such district purchasers the report goes on to recommend one of the iron-bound state contracts, so increasingly popular nowadays, by which the publisher files a bond guaranteeing certain prices over a term of years, these prices to be as low as those offered in any other state and automatically dropping as they may happen for any reason to drop in any other place.

IV—STATE PRINTING

STATE PRINTING NOT FEASIBLE FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEXTS—BECAUSE OF LIMITED QUANTITIES USED

"Granting the success of the system of free text-books in the elementary schools," the report continues, "it does not follow that it is economically advisable for the state to print text-books for free distribution to pupils of high schools. The reasons why the same arguments do not apply to the two classes readily present themselves and are based chiefly on the limited number of the books that could be used in any one year in most of the subjects taught in the high schools. There are in California 266 high schools, in attendance at which in 1915-16 there were about 76,000 pupils (of whom about 15,000 were enrolled in night schools) taking instruction in a great variety of courses. In the elementary schools of the state there are about 400,000 children. Books cannot be profitably printed except in large quantities. The 400,000 students in the elementary grades in 1915-16 used 23 books, including five copy books, representing eight subjects besides writing. Most of these are of an inexpensive kind and offer themselves readily to cheap production. They can, moreover, be produced in large quantities. On the other hand, many of the books necessarily used in the high schools are large and, from the nature of the subject and character, expensive. As against the 23 books used by over 400,000 children in the elementary schools, there were upwards of 100 subjects taught in the high schools to less than 80,000 pupils. First Algebra, the only subject taught in every one of the 266 high schools in the state, was studied last year by only 17,208 pupils. Plane Geometry was taught last year in all the high schools but one, to 10,724 pupils. In the brief submitted on behalf of various interests, it is said that text-books can profitably be printed in the State Printing Office in editions of 10 000 and possibly less." In only five of the courses offered in the high schools last year were there more than 10,000 enrolled. In 75 of the courses there were less than 5000 enrolled. In 53 courses less than 2000 were enrolled. There were 17 courses in no one of which was a subject taught to more than 100 pupils in the whole State.

"Again, the cost of printing high school books would be increased by the fact that, owing to the different character of the subjects and the greater difficulty of finding satisfactory texts, the royalty on high school books would be greater than the royalty on elementary books. While the royalty on elementary books in California is about 15 per cent, experience has demonstrated that the royalty on books in the secondary schools would average in the neighborhood of 30 per cent.

—BECAUSE OF LACK OF UNIFORMITY

"The element, however, that most seriously complicates this problem is the matter of uniformity, or rather, lack of uniformity in the books in use in our high schools. In the figures given herein showing the number of pupils in certain named courses, we have assumed, to give for a moment the benefit of the argument to those advocating printing of these books by the state, that all the pupils in a specified course use the same book. This is far from being the case. In the 266 high schools of the state, the 17,208 pupils taking First Year Algebra use 12 different texts; in the 198 schools in which Advanced Algebra is taught, the 2738 pupils use 12 different texts; in the 265 schools in which Plane Geometry is taught, 13 different texts are distributed among the 10,724 pupils studying the subject; in the 245 schools where Ancient History is taught, 10 different texts are divided among the 8886 pupils; in the 256 schools teaching Civics, 5250 pupils use 13 different texts; in the 145 schools teaching German Grammar, 21 texts are distributed among 3478 students; in the 34 schools in which English Grammar is taught, 15 different text-books are used by 4111 pupils. And yet, even those who advocate state printing of text-books, admit that, unless the edition is at least 10,000, the printing would be done at a cost that would be prohibitive.

"It is perfectly clear, therefore, that the printing of high school text-books by the state is absolutely out of the question so long as the present methods of adoption exist. To make state printing at all practicable, it would be necessary to prescribe that, in almost every subject taught in the high schools of the state, only one text-book could be used. Even tho one text-book should be adopted for a four-year period, the subjects that would be open for state printing would be comparatively few, for it must be remembered that in many instances one book could be used by two or three students in successive years. Take, for example, the subject of Solid Geometry. This subject, it appears from the table above referred to, is studied by 1545 pupils scattered over the state in 189 high schools. In four years, if there were no increase, this subject would be studied by 6180 pupils. Allowing for a natural increase, say that 6500 pupils would take Solid Geometry in a four year period. Then, if not a single text-book in this subject were used by more than one pupil, that is to say, if every pupil had a perfectly new book, only 6500 books would need to be printed in this subject in the whole period of four years. Under any circumstances, to make state printing profitable, one book must be used in several successive years. Applying the same methods of computation to the various subjects designated in the table above referred to, it will be seen that, even with absolute uniformity of text-books, the subjects in which books could be profitably printed by the state are very few."

CALIFORNIA COMMISSIONER OF SECONDARY EDUCATION OPPOSED TO STATE PRINTING

In this connection it is of interest to note some of the "evidence" submitted by the California commission along with its report in the form of the printed addresses of the speakers at the various public hearings of the commission. The State Commissioner of Secondary Education, Will C. Wood, said regarding state printing:

"There is only one other argument for state uniformity. State uniformity is necessary if we are to have state publication of high school text-books. Now, I shall not depend entirely upon the educational argument against state publication, altho that, in my judgment, is sufficient. I shall meet the proponents of state publication on their own ground. I purpose proving that state publication of high school text-books is economically impossible.

"It is an accepted principle of business that it does not pay to manufacture in small quantities. There is a certain minimum of output, below which the manufacturer can not go without economic loss. Our plan of state publication of elementary school text-books has been successful simply because there are enough pupils using each text-book to justify the printing of large editions. Under the law, no edition of less than 25,000 copies of each elementary school text-book can be printed. There is no text-book in the state series for elementary schools that is used by less than 40,000 pupils. This large uniform demand makes the printing of elementary school books economical.

LARGE HIGH SCHOOL EDITIONS IMPRACTICABLE

"When we turn to the high school we find only 76,000 pupils enrolled, just 10,000 less than the number enrolled in the first grade of the elementary schools. Each high school pupil will require about five text-books of all kinds during the year. The total number of text-books used in all classes by all high school pupils is about 38,000. In the high school, however, we have election of studies. There are over 100 branches in which text-books are required. By dividing the total number of text-books required by the number of subjects, we find that the average number of pupils using a text-book is approximately 3800. To find the number of text-books required for a four year period of adoption we must multiply this number by two. The average number of text-books required for a given subject in the high school for the four-year period would be 7600. If an edition of 25,000 books were published, the average time required to exhaust the edition would be more than twelve years. Think of the advances in chemistry and physics during the last twelve years! If this system had been adopted in 1900 and an edition of American history had been printed, the latest event discussed in the text-books that would be in use now would be the assassination of President McKinley. We would know nothing of Roosevelt, or Taft, or Woodrow Wilson! If an edition of 25,000 books were published, pupils would be in the dark so far as the great civic and political reforms since 1900 are concerned. When we speak in averages, the futility from the educational standpoint of state publication of all high school text-books is apparent.

INTEREST ON INVESTMENT EATS UP PROFIT

"The amount invested in one edition of any high school text-book would be considerable. We may reckon the investment at 5 per cent. Assuming that the state printing office can produce a book at a cost of 25 per cent less than the price at which the state may obtain the book from the publisher on competitive bid, let us determine whether state publication would be economical. The cost of the book during the twelve years, with interest added, would be as follows:

First year	$1.00	Seventh year	$1.30
Second year	1.05	Eighth year	1.35
Third year	1.10	Ninth year	1.40
Fourth year	1.15	Tenth year	1.45
Fifth year	1.20	Eleventh year	1.50
Sixth year	1.25	Twelfth year	1.55

"It will be noted that after the sixth year the book would be carried at a loss, since we could obtain the book from the publisher for $1.25. The average cost for the twelve-year period would be $1.27½. State publication under these conditions would involve actual loss to the state.

"Fortunately, we do not have to discuss this question only in averages. We have data compiled from the official annual reports of high school principals which are made under oath. I have not had opportunity to check the statistics carefully, so certain minor inaccuracies may appear. However, they are sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes. I submit herewith a statement showing the number of pupils taking each subject:

[Table.]

"I wish to point out that we must have 12,500 pupils enrolled in order to use up one edition of a high school text-book in four years. On consulting the table, you will observe that there are only three subjects in which more than 12,500 pupils are enrolled. In more than half of the subjects, one edition would last twenty years or more. I do not wish to disturb the decorum of the occasion, but I cannot resist the temptation to point out that one edition of Homer's Iliad would last just 568 years. Clearly, it would be impossible for the state of California to undertake the publication of so great a variety of text-books in editions of 25,000. We are not facing a theory we are facing an inexorable law of economics.

SMALLER EDITIONS MEAN HIGHER ROYALTIES

"The alternative of printing smaller editions may be suggested. Let us consider an edition of 10,000 copies. We shall be obliged to lease the plates from publishing companies. Assuming that these companies would be willing to lease the plates on a 20 per cent royalty basis, the royalty on a book listed at $1.25 would be 25 cents. The total royalty for one edition would be $2500. Two weeks ago, the State Board of Education employed the Rand, McNally Company to make plates for a third reader of about 300 pages. The expense was $975. At this rate the plates for a high school text-book would amount to $1500 or more. When the publisher has deducted the cost of making the plates from his royalty, he would have $1000 left, out of which he would have to pay the author's royalty. It is manifest, I think, that no publisher would offer plates on such conditions.

STATE AUTHORSHIP A FAILURE

We have the alternatives of state authorship, of course. If the writing of a successful text-book were comparable to the making of a suit of clothes, this alternative might appeal. Thirty years ago, California tried that plan in compiling elementary text-books and it failed. Good text-books cannot be made to order. But let us assume that we can have them made to order. How long would it take a university professor and a high school teacher, working together, to write a text-book in physics or ancient history? A year would not be too long. It would cost at least $5000 to secure a manuscript for either book. Two university professors recently submitted a 10,000 word manuscript in California history to the State Board of Education and fixed the price at $2500. The average high school text-book contains 150,000 words. If we could secure a manuscript for $5000, the authorship cost on a 10,000 book edition would be 50 cents per volume. Manifestly state authorship is out of the question.

"I hope that I have made my position clear. I am in favor of free text-books for high schools, furnished by the district and selected from a list approved by the State Board of Education. If we fear that the publishers will charge the districts too much, let the state board be authorized to advertise for bids, stating prices at which books will be sold to the districts. If this plan is adopted, I am satisfied we can save at least 30 per cent over the present cost. I can see no objection to a law limiting the choice of the state board to five text-books in each subject. This would provide a reasonable standardization and would avoid the pitfall of uniformity.

"In conclusion, I wish to leave this thought with you: Let us have the best high school text-books at the lowest price for which they may be obtained; let the books be furnished free to the high school pupils of California; but let us not sacrifice our high school system nor check its development along popular lines."

N. H. Garrison, principal of the Stockton High School, also opposed state printing before the committee, citing its recent rejection by a Georgia committee, and also pointing out that altho Kansas had published certain books at an estimated cost below publishers' prices, these costs were figured on anticipated sales in one case of 60,000, and in the case of the "History of Kansas," of 100,000.

THE CASE IN DEFENCE OF STATE PRINTING

The Superintendent of State Printing, R. L. Telfer, stated the case in behalf of state printing in part as follows:

"The cost of elementary school text-books, in twenty-three states, where data has been available, averages about $10. The complete cost in California, including manufacture, royalty for copyrighted plates, and distribution, is less than $4.60. Even under a former non-progressive, unbusiness-like administration, the cost, under state manufacture, was 25 per cent less than when purchased from eastern publishers. Printed under progressive methods the cost has been reduced over 50 per cent compared with costs from publishers.

"Recently a newspaper in this State, anti-administration in its character, in opposition to the free text-book system, stated that the state printing plant represened a valuation of a million dollars. The total value of the plant is but one-tenth this sum, and only about one-quarter of the equipment is used for school-book manufacture. The annual output of the plant is about a third of a million dollars and the annual saving, under economical management, more than sufficient to replace the entire equipment each year.

"Taking the intermediate dictionary as an illustration, it is shown that even a greater difference in price is paid where the state does not enter into competition. These books are printed in the East and sold in this State for eighty cents to one dollar each. It has been figured that they can be printed at the State Printing Office for twenty cents. Even were a royalty of the same sum allowed for copyrighted plates, the cost to the students would be but half or less than at present. There are over 400,000 common school pupils, and without including the 76,000 high school students, the saving of forty cents per book would amount to over $160,000.

"The comparative costs and prices on the twenty-three books in the state series are as follows: List price of Eastern manufactured books, as sold in other states and in California prior to state manufacture, $9.79. Cost and price of printed books in this State prior to the present administration: Manufacturing, $5.694; royalty, $1.556; Total, $7.25. Present costs: Manufacturing, $2.519; royalty $1.5135. Total cost $4.60.

"It will be noted that even with the great saving the State is now making with its own publication, we are still paying within 4½ cents of the former total royalty.

[He goes on to argue that since "text-books can profitably be printed in the State Printing Office in editions of 10,000, and possibly less, with 76,000 high school students is it not possible to print that minimum number on each book used?]

"California spent over $80,000 for royalties in 1912, when the free text-book system was inaugurated, and additional amounts since. This figures a cost of over $4000 for each elementary schoolbook for the one year. For the information of your committee, we present the following figures upon royalties paid for the period of the past four years: 1912, $42,100.08; 1913, $55,321.72; 1914, $86,-140.38; 1915, $30,188.87; total $213,751.05. Deducting $10,000 for the five small writing books, we find we have paid $203,750 for the eighteen text-books in the series, or an average of $11,319.44 in royalty for each book. If the state cannot readily secure high school book plates upon a fair basis, would it not be reasonable to pay the same or even a greater amount in securing our own text and our own plates? Your attention is respectfully called to the advisability of the direct purchase of copyrights.

"We believe that the high school plates can be secured at a fair price, and would ask, thru your committee, that this information be secured by the State Board of Education. The royalty amounts on the elementary text-books figured as follows: 15 per cent on retail sales price in other states, 33 per cent on our total cost, and 60 per cent on our manufacturing cost.

"Even under the present system without any degree of uniformity, we find that a considerable saving can be made, and call your attention to the accompanying figures:

"The argument is made that the elementary school books are printed in editions of 25,000 or more, and this would be impossible with the high school books. This is a question of economy in production, and if the books can be successfully printed in 5000 lots, or even less, there can be no argument upon this point. The proponents ask your committee to consider the advisability of printing those books which can, at present, be printed economically, and which can be included under a more uniform system, and that some recommendation be made for the wholesale purchase of those books whose limited number does not make economical state production possible at this time."

COMMISSIONER OF SECONDARY EDUCATION ANSWERS SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE PRINTING

In answer to this statement by the Superintendent of State Printing, the Commissioner of Secondary Education, Mr. Wood, submitted a reply brief and argument in part as follows:

"On page 15 of their brief the proponents of state uniformity present figures purporting to show what the state printing office can save by printing high school text-books in the more common branches. These figures are so remarkable that we have given them more than cursory consideration. The proponents state that they can save $7100 on the publishers' list price of $11,000 for an edition of 10,000 books in English. You will note that the estimated cost of this edition is $3900, including an allowance of 25 per cent of the list price for royalty. The royalty on this edition, based on 25 per cent of the list price, would amount to $2750, leaving only $1150 for the manufacturing cost. This is just 11½ cents per volume. Now every English book listed at $1.10 in use in the high schools of this state contains approximately as many pages as the "Brief History of the United States," published as a state series text for use in the elementary schools. The manufacturing cost of this book, according to the proponents' own figures, is 21.1 cents. We would request that the proponents explain this glaring discrepancy. Is the manufacturing cost of the "Brief History" too great? Or have the proponents suddenly discovered a labor-saving process that will cut the manufacturing cost of text-books in two? We believe that the real explanation is that the figures given [by the proponents of state printing] are a product of the crudest guesswork.

[Mr. Wood here states that careful study reveals that the figures for the cost of state printing in the table reproduced on page 218 are "considerably" too low.]

"In our first brief we stated that it would probably be impossible for the state to secure the lease of plates to be used in publishing high school text-books. The proponents suggested [see above] that information on this point be secured. Our correspondence with publishers confirms our belief. Even assuming that plates can be leased, we pointed out in our former statement that the royalty would be exorbitant on account of the small number of each book needed to meet California demands. The proponents have admitted that the royalty on plates for high school books will be higher than the royalty on elementary school books. They estimate royalty on high school books at 25 per cent altho the state is paying only 15 per cent royalty on elementary school books. The experience of Kansas in attempting to lease plates for high school books warrants the conclusion that if any bids for acceptable books are received, the royalty will be at least 30 per cent of the list price. (See United States Bureau of Education Bulletin, 1915, No. 36, p. 66.)

"Assuming, however, that the royalty charge will be 30 per cent, and that the total cost under state publication will be three times the royalty, as the proponents have stated in their brief, the cost of an edition of 10,000 copies of each of the books mentioned [in the table above] would be as follows:

	(1) Royalty	(2) Total cost per copy	(3) Wholesale price per copy from publisher	Total cost for 10000 State manufacture	Price for 10000 wholesale from publisher
English	$.33	$.99	$.88	$9900	$8800
Civics	.375	1.125	1.00	11250	10000
Science	.30	.90	.80	9000	8000
Economics	.30	.90	.80	9000	8000
Algebra, Elementary	.30	.90	.80	9000	8000
Algebra, Advanced	.42	1.26	1.12	12600	11200
Geometry, Plane	.24	.72	.64	7200	6400
Geometry, Solid	.225	.675	.60	6750	6000
Bookkeeping	.42	1.26	1.12	12600	11200
Spanish Grammar	.375	1.25	1.00	11250	10000
Totals				$98550	$87600

(1) Royalty computed at 30 per cent of publishers' list price.
(2) To find total cost per copy multiply royalty by 3. (Proponents in their brief above state that royalty on elementary school books amounts to 33 per cent of the total cost.)
(3) Found by deducting 20 per cent from the publishers' list price.

"It will be noted that the loss sustained by the state on an edition of 10,000 copies of each book would be $10,950. To this must be added the cost of making the adoptions. The experience of the State Board of education in adopting books for the elementary schools proves that the cost of adopting books is no small item. The commissioners and expert readers must carefully investigate the books submitted and the board must sit to hear arguments by the publishers' agents on the merits of the books. Under the present system [for high school books] the public does not incur any expense for adopting high school books.

"The cost of adopting one elementary text-book is approximately as follows:

Per diem of seven members of State Board of Education, two days at $15 each	$210
Expenses of seven members of State Board of Education, two days at $5 each	70
Thirty days time of Commissioner of Secondary Schools, investigating book, preparing brief, etc.	333
Five expert readers to investigate book, at $25.	125
Clerical assistance in handling extra work	25
Total cost per book	$763

"For the ten books included in the table we must therefore add $7630 to the cost, making the total loss to the state thru state publication $18,580. Taking the publishers' wholesale price as a basis we find that the cost of these ten books under state publication will be at least 21 per cent greater. If state publication of other books requiring smaller editions were undertaken, the loss to the state would be at least $50,000 annually. This is assuming that a state printed book would be equally well printed and bound and the materials used of quality such that it would last as long as the one purchased in open market. From an economic standpoint, therefore, state publication of high school text-books is out of the question."

V.—STATE UNIFORMITY

The question of state uniformity is naturally closely allied with and involved in the question of state printing, as indicated above. At the present time there is state uniformity in all subjects taught in Kansas, Oklahoma, Panama Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Utah (with few exceptions in industrial subjects), and Tennessee; in all subjects in the regular course of studies in high schools in Alabama; in Algebra, Geometry, History, and Civics in Delaware, Indiana, Oregon, Texas and West Virginia; in Botany in Delaware, Oregon and West Virginia; in German in Delaware, Indiana and Oregon; in Latin in Delaware, Indiana, Oregon and West Virginia; in Physics in Delaware, Oregon, Texas and West Virginia; in Zoology and Rhetoric in Delaware and West Virginia; in English in Oregon and Texas; in Bookkeeping, Arithmetic and Chemistry in Delaware and Oregon; in Biology in Oregon and West Virginia; in Geography in Delaware, Indiana, Oregon (Physical) and West Virginia (Physical). In addition there is uniformity in the subjects named below according to states: Indiana—Commercial Arithmetic, History of English Literature, History of American Literature, English Composition and Rhetoric, German Grammar, four elective books each in Botany, Zoology, Physics and Chemistry; Delaware—French, English Grammar, Physics, Drawing, English; Oregon—Agriculture and Physiology; West Virginia—Art, Home Economics, English Literature and American Literature. It was stated in the course of the public hearings before the committee that: "Every one of the twelve states at the bottom of the list [the 1912 ranking of state educational systems compiled by the Russell Sage Foundation] had state uniformity of high school text-books, while none of the twelve states at the top of the list had state uniformity of high school text-books at the time the report was compiled."

In summing up the result of its investigations in this matter of uniformity the California committee reports: "Your committee is agreed, then, after a careful consideration of all the facts that have been gathered by it and of all the arguments that have been presented to it, that the best interest of the state requires that the axe be laid to the roots of the tree, and that at the earliest possible moment . . . the proper authority should cut out from the list of permissible high school texts everything that can be regarded as superfluous. [The California State Board of Education has restricted the list of eligible books since 1913 from 1196 to 369.] Too tight a rein, perhaps, ought not to be drawn on certain subjects which are in the course of constant development, as, for example, certain branches of science. Moreover, in subjects like music and drawing, it is not so important that the list should be drawn down to the narrowest limit. Even as to these subjects, however, it must be remembered that it is the work of beginners that is chiefly concerned. While accuracy of information is always to be desired, yet the earlier work in these subjects does not demand the latitude that is required when the student reaches the wide field of university and postgraduate study. We believe, however, that much may be done to remedy present conditions by the efficient exercise by the State Board of Education of the wide powers in this regard conferred upon it by recent statutes, especially, if at the same time action be taken in conformity with another recommendation herein.

"Your committee is agreed that no reason is conceivable why the permissible list of books used in the high schools in this state should not be limited to a number not exceeding the numbers below."

[Here follows a detailed table of the number of recommended texts in each subject, for instance: 3 in Algebra instead of the 12 now in use; 3 in Trigonometry instead of 14; 4 in Civics instead of 13; 3 for each year of American and European History; 3 each in Agricultural, Household and General Chemistry; 4 in Botany instead of 9; 2 for each year of Latin; 5 each for German, for French and for Spanish, exclusive of classics; 2 for Advertising; 2 for Bookkeeping.]

The committee was influenced in this limitation of texts to about three in each subject by the fact that the authorities of "the 266 high schools in this state voluntarily, independently and without concerted action and, in most instances by an overwhelming majority, have expressed themselves as being in favor of the adoption of one or two or, at most, three text-books in the principal subjects taught in the high schools. The committee feels that the local boards and principals, for educational reasons, and acting without concert, have themselves demonstrated their preference for what is virtually a very complete system of uniformity. [For instance:] Of the 17,208 pupils studying algebra in the high schools, 10,543 use one book, 2836 use another book, and 2192 use a third book. Of the 10,575 pupils studying geometry 6655 use one book and 1039 use another book. Of the 8507 studying American history, 5928 have adopted one book. Of the 8886 pupils studying ancient history, 4276 use one book, 1507 a second book and 1466 a third book. [Etc.] What more convincing argument for the feasibility and desirability of some system approaching uniformity could be made than is thus offered by the action of the local high school authorities themselves? If further arguments and considerations were entirely lacking, these figures alone would compel the committee to adopt the conclusion which is presented herein."

TENNESSEE COMMISSION REJECTS STATE PRINTING OF TEXT-BOOKS.

A REPORT on the advisability of inaugurating the state printing of schoolbooks in Tennessee and their free distribution to the children of the state was submitted early in the present year by a special state text-book commission appointed by the Governor of that state under a resolution of the Fifty-ninth General Assembly. Two reports were in fact submitted, the majority report holding it inadvisable to establish a state printing plant and undertake the printing of text-books or to attempt a system of free text-books, and the minority report recommending a free book system for elementary schools dependent upon local option in each community and recommending that the Tennessee Industrial School be equipped to print and bind all state text-books.

Taking up the question of state compilation and printing of texts, the majority report said in part: "This involves two ways by which it can be done. Either the state must employ authors or compilers and publish the series, or purchase the plates of books from publishers and print the books. From information gathered by the commission, the first method has proven entirely unsatisfactory and has been abandoned in California. Manuscripts prepared by state authors have proven both unsatisfactory and expensive. Text-books cannot be made to order with any assurance of success. Many manuscripts prepared at considerable cost to publishers have found their way into the waste basket. In a series of state publications there is a lack of spontaneity and competition in authorship."

[Former California State Superintendent of Public Instruction Hoitt and the present superintendent, Edward Hyatt, are both quoted in evidence of the failure of this system.]

The report goes on to cite the breakdown of state authorship in Kansas and enumerates the handicaps of high royalties and other unfavorable features of the alternative plan of leasing copyright plates from regular publishers. It further cites the experience of Georgia, where the bids submitted in 1913 for the printing of its basal text-books were higher than the prices already being paid by the state. After citing the cost of installing state printing plants in Kansas and California the report continues:

"To fully equip a plant capacitated to do all state printing, including text-books, would necessitate an outlay of from $250,000 to $500,000. This would not include printing material, royalties and copyrights.

"In view of the foregoing facts," the majority report concludes on this point, "and appreciating the financial condition of the state, your commission does not feel justified in drafting a bill predicated upon the improvement of the public school system thru the economical production of all printed matter required by the state."

According to the majority report, 2,318,320 books are used by the pupils of the elementary schools of Tennessee, and 172,958 by high school students, alloting each his full quota of books. Taking up first the matter of free text-books, the commission estimated that it would cost $616,726.21 the first year to introduce free text-books into the elementary county schools, $38,086.38 into the county high schools, $160,912.11 into the elementary city schools, $56,358.64 into the city high schools, a total of $872,083.34.

The commission pointed out that the investigation had revealed that the Tennessee school system is suffering from so many needs greater than that of free text-books, and that an exceedingly small per cent of the scholastic population fails to attend school on account of inability to purchase school books, and consequently it seemed inadvisable at the present to attempt to shoulder the large financial burden involved in free state distribution of books.

The minority report held that with free text-books the state school system would be in "an approximately perfect state of usefulness," and that as stated above, the question of installing such a system should be left to local option elections, and that the Tennessee Industrial School be so equipped with printing and binding machinery and quarters as to enable it to print and also bind all the state printing.

NOBLE & NOBLE BECOMES BARNES & NOBLE, INC.

W. R. BARNES, for a number of years president of the Chicago schoolbook firm of C. M. Barnes-Wilcox Co., founded by his father, C. M. Barnes, in 1873, has severed his relations with that company to take charge of the jobbing end of the business of Noble & Noble. With his entry into the firm its name has been changed to Barnes & Noble, Inc. The business has been incorporated for $75,000. Mr. Barnes leaves the C. M. Barnes-Wilcox Co. in all friendliness, and that business will continue as heretofore. The shift was made at the invitation of G. Clifford Noble and Lloyd Adams Noble, who wish to devote their energies more exclusively to the publishing end of their business.

UNIFORM ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS IN ENGLISH.

FOLLOWING is the list of books adopted by the National Conference on Uniform Entrance Requirements in English. The old name, College Entrance Requirements, has been changed because this list is now widely used in many institutions other than those preparing distinctly for college. The 1915-1919 list is identical with the list as published last year. The 1919-1922 list, it should be noted, is not only somewhat different in arrangement but contains numerous new titles.

John Aitchison, for over forty years manager of Smith, Elder & Co., London, died at Upminster, England, June 29, in his eighty-third year.

PERIODICAL NOTES

Judge Learned Hand of the Federal District Court of New York granted the preliminary injunction on Tuesday of this week sought by the publishers of the Masses to restrain Postmaster Patten of New York from excluding the August issue of that magazine from the mails as a violation of the Espionage act. The subscribers' copies of the issue had been held up in the New York postoffice. The basis of Judge Hand's decision was that, altho articles and cartoons in the Masses were "designed to arouse animosity to the draft and to the war," they did not counsel resistance to the law and were not in violation of the Espionage act, under which Postmaster General Burleson declared the magazine non-mailable. Judge Hand also upheld the contention of Gilbert E. Roe, counsel for the Masses, that, if the Masses, were nonmailable under the Espionage act, its publishers were indictable under the same law, and that if the publishers were not indictable the magazine must be mailable. What further action the government will take in the case will be decided by the Postmaster General. AT A CONGRESS promoted by the Society for the Progress of Science held at Milan, in April, several questions of interest to the book-trade and to Italian authors and publishers were discussed. In dealing with copyright questions it was proposed to abolish all formalities for recognising and establishing an author's rights and to simplify copyright agreements. It was stated in connection with the discussion on the increased production and diffusion of books that reading has become more popular and general in Italy than is commonly supposed, largely owing to the good work of the Public Libraries Association in Milan. It was proposed to appoint a special committee to consider the need of an Italian Cyclopedia in the style of the British one as well as of a Biographical Dictionary, including the period from the fall of the Roman Empire to the present time. Mention was made also of the need for establishing scientific and literary reviews and bibliographical publications in collaboration with non-German experts. Other topics discussed were cartography and paper-making, the future limitation to the introduction of German works into Italy, and needed reforms in the Italian postal and customs regulations.

THE AMERICAN
Educational Catalog, 1917

I. ALPHABETICAL LIST OF TEXTBOOKS FOR CLASS USE IN GRADE SCHOOLS.

This List plans to cover all textbooks sold in quantities for class use in the school grades above a minimum price of 10 cents. The List does not include works out of print or superseded by newer editions, or works obsolete in the sense of being no longer sold in quantities for class introduction, but only in individual copies to schools having the book already in use. For such works see the American Educational Lists of previous years.

The main alphabet below no longer includes books for supplementary reading, for vocational guidance, for higher and technical education, or on pedagogics or for teachers' aids, which will be found in a classified list forming the second portion of this Catalog.

Entries are under authors or editors; classical texts are entered under editor's name, foreign and English texts under author's name with editor's name in parenthesis. For subject classification and for collective reference to classical authors entered under editors, see classified index, following this first alphabet.

The price given is the "net" or introduction price made by the publisher (with close trade discount only), for which a copy is sent to a teacher or bookseller postpaid. Books priced at retail, with regular trade discount, are designated by a dagger (†) in the price column. Where an additional mailing charge is made for postage, on single copies, an asterisk (*) precedes the price. When there is a blank in price column the publisher failed to give information. A double asterisk () designates books forthcoming and yet unpriced. New books issued since List of 1916 are designated by a double dagger (‡) preceding title.

Be particular in ordering to specify edition, and to give the full name of the book as entered in the list.

KEY TO SUBJECT CLASSIFICATION

For the American Educational List, 1916.

The following index is a key to the classification used in the subject classification (pages 302 to 317) of the main Educational lists and in the Supplementary List (pages 318 to 368).

ART	KINDERGARTEN	PEDAGOGY AND TEACHERS' AIDS	SUPPLEMENTARY READING
BUSINESS TRAINING	†LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE	PENMANSHIP	TECHNICAL AND HIGHER EDUCATION
†ECONOMICS AND CIVICS	†MATHEMATICS	†PHILOSOPHY	VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE
†GEOGRAPHY	MUSIC	PHYSICAL TRAINING
†HISTORY	†NATURAL SCIENCE	†READING AND ELOCUTION

Divisions of these main headings are shown by ITALIC CAPS or black face lower case, and subdivisions by SMALL CAPS. The index below shows under which of the main heads any specific subject may be sought, except that self-evident references, as from French language to Language, are not given.

Main classes above and sub classes below, preceded by an asterisk, are those found in the Supplementary List. The headings preceded by a dagger appear in both classifications.

WHEELER'S GRADED READERS

By GAIL CALMERTON and WILLIAM H. WHEELER

WHEELER'S GRADED PRIMER

List Price, 30 Cents

Cloth, 132 pages, 50 engravings, 28 of them full-page.

The primer vocabulary is small—only 250 words. New words are introduced gradually and regularly and repeated frequently. The sentences are short and easy. The language is plain, natural and conversational. The thought is simple, childlike, and pure. The little stories are stories, and not mere drill upon words.

WHEELER'S GRADED FIRST READER

List Price, 30 Cents

Cloth, 128 pages, 40 engravings, 20 of them full-page.

There is the very closest connection between the Wheeler Primer and the Wheeler First Reader. The plan of the two books is the same. The First Reader begins right where the Primer ends. These books are graded not only from lesson to lesson, but from book to book.

WHEELER'S GRADED SECOND READER

Cloth, 160 pages, 33 engravings, 25 of them full-page.

This Second Reader is so carefully graded that it follows the First Reader as easily and naturally as the First Reader follows the Primer. The authors have not forgotten that the Second Reader children need constant drill on familiar words to keep from forgetting them, and that the new words must not be introduced too rapidly.

WHEELER'S GRADED THIRD READER

List Price, 50 Cents

Cloth, 288 pages, 37 engravings, 25 of them full-page.

The mission of this Third Reader is to continue the fundamental processes of learning to read and to create and foster a taste for good reading. The stories are longer and more complete and more conversational than those found in other third readers. The aim of the authors has been to make each lesson so simple that the children can read it easily, and so full of interest that the children will let the thought and the feeling of what they read come from their hearts as well as from their lips. This is the secret of good expression.

WHEELER'S GRADED FOURTH READER

List Price, 50 Cents

Cloth, 288 pages, 31 engravings, 26 of them full-page.

The length of the selections is a special feature of this book, the selections being long enough to be interesting and to mean something when standing alone. Many of the selections were chosen with a definite purpose of introducing the animate children to the children of fiction. Jackanapes, Cosette, Little Charley, Tom and Maggie Tulliver, Paul and Florence Dombey and those other boys and girls of story land, should be as familiar to the children as their playmates.

WHEELER'S GRADED FIFTH READER

List Price, 60 Cents

Cloth, 448 pages, 39 engravings, 30 of them full-page.

This book was prepared with the conviction that the love for the best books—books which make us clearer in head, larger in heart and nobler in action—is better—a thousand times better—than all the material wealth the world can give; and with the hope that the pupils will like the charming people of the book world to whom they are here introduced too well to confine their acquaintance within the brief limits necessary to this book.
